

REGULATIONS NOT HARMONISED AT EUROPEAN LEVEL

OUTPUT LASER DEVICES

SCOPE

The following definitions apply :

- Laser: any device that can produce or amplify laser radiation whose beam is accessible;
- Laser radiation: any electromagnetic radiation within wavelengths ranging from 180nm to 1mm, produced by controlled stimulated emission ;
- Laser devices: any device or any combination of components that makes up, incorporates or is intended to incorporate at least an output laser or a laser system.

These provisions do not cover :

- Laser devices such as CD readers since the device must be closed to operate in normal conditions, meaning the laser is inaccessible
